Pacific Gateway Cape Town - Warm Winter Season

The winter months in Cape Town are a favorable time for students to study English in South Africa. With average winter temperatures of around 20°C, Cape Town is an all year round destination. Getting a tan on the beach might be out of the question in June, July, and August, but the city and surrounding areas come alive with a huge range of special events. 2004 is the ten year anniversary of democracy in South Africa. The city is celebrating non-stop. Various international artists are performing all year round at huge festivals.

Moderate temperatures make this time of the year perfect to view Africa's greatest treasure, its wildlife. We deal with various tour operators representing top game reserves close to Cape Town. No student should leave South Africa without having done a weekend Safari to see the Big 5.

Cape Town also offers a world class shopping experience! Due to lower tourist numbers, shops attract customers with a variety of special offers. Everything is on sale! This includes airfare costs, as they tend to be lower between July and September. We invite everyone to come to South Africa and experience Pacific Gateway Cape Town!
